Job deleteLoginTokens

Purpose and status

The job deletes old login tokens. It has no configuration form of its own and is active by default in the job descriptor.

Processing

The retention period is read from the central option keepLoginTokensForXDays. If no positive value is stored there, the job uses the default value of 90 days. All older login tokens are deleted via the login token service.