Log entries

A log file contains the automatically created record of all or certain actions of one or more users in Webdesk, without them noticing it or their work being affected.

If a log has been activated for an action, it appears in this list of all logs.
All relevant data is recorded in this list, such as the time at which logging began, the user identification (or the ID of a switched user), the IP address of the computer from which the action was called, etc.
On the basis of this data, a specific log file can also be searched for.
