- Show search form initially
  If the parameter is set to Yes, the search form is always displayed first when the menu item is opened. If the parameter is set to No, the overview of on-call duties is displayed initially, according to the parameters selected once. The search form can be shown at any time.
- Rescheduling structure
  The rescheduling structure is defined by the administrator and can relate to daily schedules or organizational units; here it is automatically prefilled with "Organization".
- Rescheduling mode
  Choice between group scheduling and group detail scheduling
  If Group scheduling is selected, an optional detail display additionally appears below
- Interval
  Scheduling in weekly or monthly intervals
- Date format of heading
  The date heading can be displayed in long, medium, or short format
  - long - date display with weekday, day, month, year
  - medium - date display with weekday, day of month
  - short - date display with day of month
- Detail display
  The detail display only appears if Group scheduling was selected above under rescheduling mode. The detail display can show optional additional details:
  - occupied time information (from GW system)
  - approved and unapproved absences from the time management system
  - approved absences from the time management system
  - requested, not yet approved absences
  - daily schedule target work time from the time management system
  - daily schedule number from the time management system
  - daily schedule name from the time management system
  - daily schedule core time from the time management system
  - day date from the time management system
- Show title in detail display
  If the parameter is set to YES and a field is selected in the detail display, e.g. target work time, "Target: 8.15" is shown in the respective cell; if NO, no title appears and only "8.15" is displayed.
- Width of detail display in pixels
- Font size
- Groups to be scheduled
  If the scheduling permission only extends to the own person, the employee can only select themselves and make scheduling entries only for themselves.

Repetitions / entering series

Use this if the rescheduling is not to be made for one day only but repeated on several days within a period. The entire period is entered under Date - repeat until; the desired days can be selected via "Repetitions".

If you click "Repetitions", the entire period entered above appears checked.
If only certain weekdays are to be scheduled, the individual checkmarks can be removed by clicking them. In this way, for example, series can be created only for Mondays, or Monday and Friday, or any combination. Weekends are marked in beige (Saturdays lighter, Sundays darker).

Deleting / changing scheduled organizational units

The scheduling entry for the organization can not be deleted under "My requests", unlike all other requests. To delete an organization scheduling request, the scheduling form must be opened.

Click the day to be changed > Click here to edit

If the scheduling entry is to be deleted completely, check the "del." box in the upper field Edit rescheduling, then click Apply. This removes the scheduling entry.

If the scheduling entry is to be changed, the desired change can be made under New rescheduling entry:

- Change of period
- Change of the scheduled activity, etc.
- Entering a series / repetitions
- The change is applied with Apply
